

Spring 2018 – Grossmont College Online: 16-week course Course week: * Thursday-Wednesday Professor Kristin Hargrove *Email: 1 kristin.hargrove@gcccd.edu * preferred Voice: 619.644.7000 x3618

Course Description

Early American History (HIST 108) is a survey of the early political, social and cultural development of the entire geographic area that is now the United States, with emphasis upon the origins of basic American institutions and ideals. (* Recommended Preparation: A "C" or "CR" grade or higher in ESL 119 / ENG 110 or equivalent.)

- This course meets Track 1 Part A or Track 2 Part B of the American Institutions requirement for CSU
- Satisfies General Education for: Grossmont College D3; CSU D6; IGETC4F
- Transfers to: CSU, UC (credit limited; see the Grossmont Catalog and/or check with your the Counselor)
- CAN HIST 8 (HIST 108+109 = CAN HIST sequence B)

Student Learning Outcomes / Course Objectives The ⁻[®] Grossmont College History Department is committed to:

- 1. helping enable students critically analyze and synthesize both primary and secondary American historical sources and explain how they support a thesis statement;
- 2. understand and explain the relationships between causes of American historical events and their effects; and
- 3. identify a relevant individual involved in an historical event and explain their significance in this event.

At the completion of this course, HIST 108 students should be able to:

- Articulate special topics in US history (of your choosing) by employing college-level research, writing, and presentation skills;
- Differentiate between myth and reality in early American history;
- Compile list of books and non-print resources on relevant historical topics and events in order to research historical topics;
- Use maps and atlases to locate regions, sites, and landforms to better understand the physical content of early American history;
 - Critique articles about the early history of America;
- Analyze economic change, social change, intellectual movements and the importance of science and technology in America's development;
- Evaluate significant theories of historical development;
- Analyze how various geographical areas and groups, such as ethnic minorities and women, influenced early American history;
- Analyze the relationships between regions of the U.S. in the context of major events;
- Analyze the origins of our political system throughout the entire area that is now the United States;
- Distinguish major constitutional issues and developments;
- Comprehend how our political system has changed between the colonial period and 1876;
- Evaluate the relationships of state and local governments with the federal government in the context of major events;
- Examine the rights, obligations, and activisms of citizens under the U.S. Constitution;
- Understand the origins, evolution, and processes of California state and local governments; and
- Critically apply the basic themes of early American history to present history and current events.

Academic Integrity

Cheating and plagiarism (using as one's own ideas writings, materials, or images of someone else without acknowledgement or permission) can result in any one of a variety of sanctions. Such penalties may range from an adjusted grade on the particular exam, paper, project, or assignment (all of which may lead to a failing grade in the course) to, under certain conditions, suspension or expulsion from a class, program or the college. For further clarification and information on these issues, please consult with your instructor or contact the office of the Associate Dean of Student Affairs.

HIST 108 policy: First instance = F or 0 points for work and a warning. Second instance = F for course and referral to Department Chair and Office of Student Affairs

Accommodation

Students with disabilities who may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to notify the instructor and contact the Accessibility Resource Center (ARC) early in the semester so that reasonable accommodations may be implemented as soon as possible. Students may contact DSP&S in person in Room 110 or by phone at (619) 644.7112 or (619) 644.7119 (TTY for Deaf).

Attendance

Although HIST 108 is an online class, "attendance" is mandatory. The HIST 108 course week starts on Thursday and work is due by the following Wednesday evening by 11:59pm. This gives students the option to work before, during, and/or after the weekend, with flexibility for school holidays and student work/personal plans so course deadlines can be met by all.

Late work, without receiving professor approval first, is not accepted. Please email me to discuss your options if:

1. you have a pre-planned event that will considerably disrupt your HIST 108 participation during the term, or

2. a sudden emergency/illness arises as these things happen. 🖑 kristin.hargrove@gcccd.edu

Class Conduct

Successful online scholastic dialogue relies on both informed and selfless collaboration. It is expected that students will conduct themselves with academic decorum appropriate to higher learning, acting respectfully towards others by exhibiting awareness for varying perspectives.

By participating in this class, you agree to exhibit exemplary online class d netiquette in all Canvas postings, academic integrity in your work, collegial courtesy to your classmates, professional courtesy towards your instructor, and take both initiative and responsibility for your weekly scholastic performance and thus your final grade in the course. Kindly conduct yourself as you would in a formal workplace in tone and communication. If the emailing, please state the course & section (HIST 108/0213) and your full name so I know who you are and which class/section you are in. A proper email to your professor is different than a quick text message to family or friend, so please email sparingly, politely, and concisely.

Communication

General HIST 108 course questions should be posted on Q&A/the appropriate Canvas forum. See Canvas for specific directions and check prior Q&A's first before posting to avoid duplication /clutter.

Personal matters or specific grading issues are the only items that should be privately emailed to me. Please do not inquire about your grade/points on Canvas. Do this privately, per student privacy law.

- On weekdays, I check Q&A and email about 2 times between 7:00am to 6:00 pm, answering Q&A queries and responding to emails during this time. Please graciously allow a window of 24 hours for replies.
- On weekends, I will check Q&A and email once or twice. I will be sure to let you know if I am out of town and/or away from away from the computer in advance.

* Please be sure to check Canvas & the email account you have registered with Gmont's WebAdvisor often.

Course Activities

So what will you need to accomplish each week in HIST 108 before 11:59pm on Wednesdays?

- Review Weekly Lesson Info: Students will read the course text and lit reading excerpts, observe audiovisual lectures, and view a documentary video and film clips (usually 5 sources total each week).
- Complete Discussions: HIST 108 students are required to thoughtfully answer the weekly Discussion prompt every course week in order to earn full participation credit in the course. This is key! These weekly exercises help prep students for exams and ultimately, the Paper. *Think PRR. You are required to:
 - 1. Post your original, deep-critical thinking interpretation of all weekly course materials (all readings, lectures, and video and film clips) to the main discussion prompt;
 - 2. Read other students' postings; and then
 - 3. Respond to at least two other student postings in a substantial way by selecting/clicking a specific student post and making a "Reply" that extends/questions/counters the week's discussion (reminder: do this twice).

Discussion grading rubric:

Course exams and an end-of-term research paper and "virtual presentation" will also cumulatively synthesize and assess unit/class learnings during the term. See Canvas for details.

- Exams: Exam 1 will cover Unit; Exam 2 will cover Unit 2. The format for both exams will be the same:
 Part 1 requires you to "identify" several concepts key to each Unit, whereas Part 2 will be an open-ended essay question. The exams are "open-book" and you'll have a full week to complete your work.
- Paper / Presentation: You'll research a topic of your choosing relevant to the scope of our class (early American history, up until 1877) and "present" your analysis to the class via a written script (a "virtual" presentation).
 We'll work on the Paper in stages for a full month, plus have a full "Paper Week" at the end of the term.

Tech Tip: If you encounter an error on Canvas, the rule of thumb is to try again, try again a little later, try again on a different internet browser, and/or try again on a different computer. Sign out of Canvas and restart your computer. Clear your internet browser history cache often. Review Professor Hargrove's faculty web page (*® Course Info) and check Q&A on Canvas for previously asked tech questions. If you still need help, please then post your tech query to Q&A. Always back up your work and take screenshots as a "receipt" for your records.

Evaluation & Feedback

A premium will be placed on weekly, collaborative online participation (informed and properly cited contributions to class discussions). Written assignments will further augment learning.

Tech Mall

HIST 108 activities are designed to strengthen critical thinking and transferable skills such as source evaluation, information analysis, effective and polished writing, proper attribution and citing, research, as well as online literacy, as we progress through the term. The course emphasizes continual improvement, and students will receive feedback usually within one week of deadlines on Canvas via point designation, rubrics, scorecards, and via typed, audio, and/or video comments. Please plan to review your activity scores and feedback regularly to upgrade your work during the term.

* Extra credit opportunities exist to reward students who are proactive and take extra initiative to apply themselves to the course while developing their scholarly skills as they work to meet standing course requirements.

Grading

"earning 100 points = 100% in the class"

Grading will be on a 100-point system. Students start at 0 points and earn a course max 100 points. Point designation is stated below and in Grades on Canvas.

Activity	Point Value	% of Final Grade
Discussions	10 @ 4 pts. each = 40 pts.	40%
Exams	2 @ 15 pts. each = 30 pts.	30%
Paper & Presentation	20 & 10 pts. = 30 pts.	30%
TOTAL	100 pts.	100%

Your final grade will generally be determined by converting your total points to this standard straight scale: (no+/-)

Grade	Point Range
А	90 –100
В	80 – 89
С	70 – 79
D	60 –69
F	59 and below

*Keep track of your HIST 108 progress by checking Canvas "Grades" and/or logging graded work in the printable "Grade Grid" (p.8). Please check in about your performance during the term (as early as possible) instead of waiting until the end of the semester.

Make-Ups

NOTE: coursework turned in on-time gets grading precedent over make-up work. Please expect a grading delay for any make-up work.

Tutoring

Tutoring Center

Students are referred to enroll in the following supervised tutoring courses if the service indicated will assist them in achieving or reinforcing the learning objectives of this course:

IDS 198, Supervised Tutoring to receive tutoring in general computer applications in the Tech Mall;

English 198W, Supervised Tutoring for assistance in the ¹ English Writing Center (Room 70-119); and/or IDS 198T, Supervised Tutoring to receive one-on-one tutoring in academic subjects in the Tutoring Center (Room 70-229,644-7387).

To add any of these courses, students may obtain Add Codes at the Information and Registration Desk in the Tech Mall. All supervised tutoring courses are non-credit/no-fee.

* NOTE ON DISTRICT WITHDRAWAL POLICY: (effective Summer 2012)

The governing body for the California Community Colleges is adopting new regulations regarding the number of times a student can enroll in the same credit course. The maximum number of times a student may enroll in the same credit course is three times.

A student, through a combination of substandard grades (D or F) and withdrawals on their student record, may only take a class three times.

If a student, through a combination of substandard grades (D or F) and withdrawals, wishes to take a class for the fourth time, they must submit a petition to the Admissions and Records Office. Petitions will only be approved based on extenuating circumstances.

 Military Withdrawals do not count in terms of repetition restrictions, nor do withdrawals that occur due to fire, flood (Title 5 Sections 55024 and 58509)

 This rule does not contain a grandfather clause. If a student has already reached the maximum allotted number of course repetitions, the district will not be able to claim apportionment for that course.
