

Profile of a 'good teacher'

What sort of instructor and person is Mrs. Leone Finalle, a reading improvement teacher, who has been at Grossmont College since 1963?

The following comments, made by GC students, represent the first in a series of profiles to be featured in the G.

Robert Hester, Jr. "Mrs. Finalle is the type of teacher who pursues a point of learning until you have improved, but I haven't really talked with her."

R.W. VanOrden: "After three meetings, she seems to be a devoted instructor. I believe we will improve in her class and get a lot out of it. Her methods of teaching are unique. She seems sincere."

Other students: "Good teacher . . . nice person . . . very explicit in her instructions . . . easy "A" . . . enables students to grasp as much as possible."

Another student summed up, "Everyone is allowed to progress at his own speed. She considers each of her students as an individual, and is usually willing to give her own time for the improvement of her students."
