

CSM Authors Recognized

A pair of College of San Mateo English instructors, co-authors of one book and currently working on three others, have been recognized for their work by the reference book "Contemporary Authors."

Dr. Adrian Cohn and James K. Bell will be featured in the next edition of "Contemporary Authors" when it appears in 1970. The reference source, used in libraries throughout the nation, is considered the "Who's Who" of living American writers.

The two instructors are co-authors of "Rhetoric In A Modern Mode," published by the Glenco Press of the MacMillan Publishing Co. and currently being used in freshman English classes throughout the country. Among the schools using the books is CSM.

They are also preparing three other books that will be ready for publication in the late Spring.

Dr. Cohn joined the CSM faculty in 1963 and holds an M.A., B.S., and Ph.D. in English from the University of Wisconsin. He resides with his wife, Barbara, at 1488 Tarrytown Ave., San Mateo.

Bell, who joined the CSM faculty the same year, holds a B.A. in English from the University of California, Santa Barbara, and an M.A. from the University of California, Berkeley. He resides with his wife, Joan, at 264 Highland Ave., San Carlos.
