

ACADEMIC PROGRAM REVIEW COMMITTEE

Charge	Academic program review is an integral part of the total process of curriculum planning, development and implementation at Grossmont College. The information gathered during the review process provides the basis for informed decision-making by the faculty and administration on the initiation, expansion, contraction, consolidation and termination of programs and the allocation of resources to those programs. The academic program review process is an effective vehicle that is utilized to provide program and department accountability and ongoing program improvement by colleagues cooperatively sharing ideas to strengthen the college's academic program. All academic departments/programs are reviewed once every six years as part of the program review cycle using a three step process.
